Fifth Dimension

Fifth Dimension brings magic and entertainment to your training, learning, marketing and corporate entertainment.

Fifth Dimension uses magic and humour to enhance your organisation's corporate image, products and services. We also support organisational learning, team-building and corporate entertainment. Our unique style breathes new life into corporate communications. Your exhibitions and trade shows, promotions and functions will be transformed. Your staff will be energised and your image enhanced. Fifth Dimension is the UK's most innovative corporate communications and entertainment company. We are specialists in helping organisations derive maximum benefit from their interactions with staff and clients. Our approach is original, entertaining, and comes with a guarantee... working with Fifth Dimension is always fun.

Add a touch of magic to your company's presentations, seminars and exhibitions

spellbinding seminars

Working closely with you we will develop and deliver sessions and courses that will entertain and illuminate your delegates. Our unique themed presentations use humour and magic to inform, entertain and inspire delegates. We call this special blend of fun and learning 'entertainment'. It is a powerful tool when demonstrating and reinforcing key learning points, themes and topics. After all, an event enjoyed is an event remembered.

Prior to the event, Fifth Dimension's skilled business presenters will work with you to develop our appreciation and understanding of your objectives. From there we will create a dynamic presentation, ensuring that your unique commercial and communication goals are carefully woven into an entertaining script. But as you will find out, there is a big difference doing things the Fifth Dimension way: the addition of a 'visual aid' that articulates your message will surprise and delight your delegates!

Rest assured, your message will be centre stage at all times.

"The team injects energy, laughter and creativity into any group and the use of magic triggers belief that anything is possible if we are willing to believe it. The magic and fun provided crosses the boundaries of language and culture, and the team encourage participation from everyone."

teaming with excitement

Are you looking for a dynamic teambuilding event that is guaranteed to be great fun and a powerful learning experience? We have the perfect solution!

Our programmes are custom-made to meet your team's needs. We can accommodate any topic: including communication, project management, mutual respect and support, creativity, teamwork and of course, the role of humour, all with a bit of magic thrown in for good measure. We can deliver this in any type of setting.

The use of humour, music and magic enables us to create the right mood for your team to learn from and enjoy the event. We emphasise key learning points throughout the sessions in a safe and relaxed atmosphere.

At Fifth Dimension we work closely as a team and appreciate that inclusion is essential to successful teamwork; everyone in your team will be supported and encouraged to participate.

The Inspiration Game is a fast-paced, fun event delivered in a game show format. It involves a variety of quickfire rounds and challenges to tackle a range of important issues in an entertaining and supportive way.

The Round Table is ideal for smaller groups and features some challenging and fascinating mind games.

The Juggling and Balloon Modelling Workshops are very popular, giving team members the opportunity to learn new skills in a fun environment. Watching the boss juggle, or a tax accountant make a balloon giraffe, always delights.

A vital component of any residential course is the evening entertainment. We have a range of entertainment services to suit every occasion including Close-Up Magic and Cabaret.

"We only have to explain the aims and objectives of our different clients and Fifth Dimension create a combination of magic, game shows and creative team challenges that never fail to excite, enthrall and inspire our participants."

energising exhibitions

Trade shows and Exhibitions are a challenge for any company. Fortunately this is a specialty of ours.

We have a wealth of experience at major trade shows and exhibitions. By integrating your brand and products into our presentations we will help you draw potential clients into your stand area, increasing opportunities for you to engage with them. Our method is a soft sell that is non-threatening and ensures visitors leave with a positive impression of your company.

Aisle View Presentations. Themed entertainment that stops the visitor in the exhibition aisle and presents your company's products and key messages.

Theatre Style Presentations. An area within the stand is turned into a theatre area, usually with a raised platform or stage, seating, lighting, music, and a 'Las Vegas' style illusion. Your message will feature throughout. You will be surprised at how much information we can impart about you and your company using this powerful technique.

Game Shows and Quiz Shows. These are bespoke services and are developed in accordance with your goals for the exhibition or trade show. We build an entertaining show around your company's products and services. This is always a major draw at exhibitions; people actually come back to view the show taking their colleagues along to share in the fun, thus increasing your brand exposure.

With so many stands competing for attention, Fifth Dimension's special blend of humour and magic is always a major draw and will ensure that you're the centre of attention with potential clients, competitors and the press.

For exhibition gala dinners and client hospitality we can provide Close-up and Cabaret Magic.

"Fifth Dimension created a stir at our stand at Offshore Europe, attracting not only many visitors, but also coverage from the local media. This enabled us to raise our profile beyond our initial expectations and, as a new organisation in the field of offshore skills development, to put our name firmly on the map."

comedy, magic & cabaret

At Fifth Dimension we understand the never-ending search for novel entertainment at corporate events. Your search is now over. We are award-winning magicians and our cabaret and close-up magic are widely recognised for professionalism and showmanship.

Our award winning Illusion Cabaret blends mind-boggling illusions in an unforgettable production that will delight and amaze your guests. We always interact with our audiences and if you wish we can pay special attention to an audience member of your choice!

Alternatively try our laugh a minute Comedy Magic Cabaret. We provide an unforgettable magical comedy experience with hilarious sketches, outrageous characters and award winning magic.

Close-up magic brings the fun directly to your guest's table. It is a great icebreaker and if you have clients and guests mixed together we will soon have them laughing together. The magic will flow through the room as we glide from table to table interacting with your guests, creating minor miracles right in front of their eyes.

Our Close-up magic act is perfect for weddings. As the photographs are being taken we will help the wedding guests relax and intermingle. Magic is a great icebreaker and helps create a party atmosphere from the moment your guests arrive at the wedding reception venue.

Our Static Close-up Show is ideal for pre and after dinner entertainment and for smaller more intimate events. Gathered round the magician's table your guests and clients will enjoy an interactive magical experience that will both amaze and amuse them.

However, if you're looking for something really special, you will want to sample The Experience.

The Experience is mysterious and mystical and includes magic of the mind! Amazing, inexplicable and hugely entertaining, The Experience makes the impossible possible and will carry you and your guests to the very edge of your imagination.

"The entertainment was absolutely excellent, and our overseas clients commented that it was the best night out they had been to – full marks!"

Offshore Shipbrokers

"Following our event I have received considerable positive feedback from colleagues attending the event. We were impressed by Fifth Dimension's professionalism. I would not hesitate in using Fifth Dimension again – superb!"

Ernst & Young

"Thank you so much for entertaining us last night. You were magnificent. You added an extra dimension – excuse the pun – and made our event even more special. You certainly impressed our guests"

creative learning

At Fifth Dimension we particularly enjoy working with schools to communicate key life skills messages to students.

Combining humour, magic and music with key learning points we provide powerful learning tools that are both fun and inspiring. The range of services helps students to learn and develop a wide variety of life skills and values in an entertaining and supportive environment.

And while they're having fun, the students are learning about communication, project management, planning, time-management and problem solving. Emphasis is placed on inclusion, thinking skills, creativity and developing the capacity for original ideas.

Many schools have been including our sessions within their induction programmes to great effect.

Fostering creativity is of great benefit to students educationally, culturally, economically and socially. Young people need to develop the creative skills to produce creative solutions to complex problems in life and in the workplace.

We have developed a range of creative learning tools that offer students opportunities to explore their creative potential. We also make learning fun.

The Inspiration Game is a fast-paced, fun event delivered in a game show format. It uses a variety of quick fire challenges and rounds to tackle a number of important issues in an entertaining and supportive way.

The Games Master is specifically designed for students to highlight the importance of time management, organisational skills, decision-making and leadership.

The I-Zone is a fun session that is designed to encourage teamwork and build relationships both within the teams and across team boundaries. The I-Zone is ideal for helping S1's learn about their new school and supports them as they get to know each other.

The Motivation Session is an entertaining, dynamic, interactive session designed to reveal the hidden potential of students and to motivate them.

"This energetic and lively presentation was enjoyable, entertaining and slick. The content was relevant with a clear emphasis on highlighting the positive and achievable. When asked how the session helped with their prelim exam revision and performance, pupils said they were; more motivated, less stressed, thinking positively and feeling calm."

Larbert Academy

"We were very impressed with the organisation, pace and variety of the programme which was hugely enjoyed by the participants. Pupil evaluations have been overwhelmingly positive and complimentary and when asked for messages taken from the event, staff noted that pupils had particularly picked up on looking for other peoples strengths, and listening to everyone in the team."

Fifth Dimension is owned and managed by Jeff Burns, Bill Duncan and Ivor Smith.

We are all magicians, presenters and accomplished entertainers. We combine these skills with sound business backgrounds in marketing, accountancy and training. Our style is dynamic; it is versatile and above all else meets the highest professional standards.

We have successfully delivered our unique presentations at events throughout the UK and abroad. International audiences have enjoyed our cabaret and magic and we have a growing reputation for excellence, innovation and professionalism.

We have extensive experience in the corporate entertainment, promotion and training sectors: entertaining at high profile corporate events; theatre show consultancy; developing and delivering trade show presentations; production and delivery of training material; developing and presenting television series for ITV and Channel 4; organising seminars, presentations and exhibitions throughout the world.

We would be delighted to assist you in preparing your next event. Naturally, our work is best appreciated when seen, so let's meet. Even if you decide to take this no further, we promise you will enjoy the meeting!
